

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and device are provided for treating waste product in a toilet by connecting the waste product to mere water and an ash product which can be readily discarded without encountering environmental pollution problems.